

What is Blizz?

Blizz is TeamViewer's new solution for meetings, presentations, and teamwork.

Equipped with proven functionality, Blizz is a slim and simple solution for anyone who would like to share information with other people easily and safely, regardless of whether from home or from the road.

Blizz is free of charge for private use.

In this article

- Free functions
- For-fee functions
- Price

Free functions

For private use, the following functions are available immediately free of charge and without registration:

- Join meetings
- Hold meetings spontaneously
- Conduct video conferences
- Exchange files
- Chat with contacts
- Manage contact list

If you create an account, the following functions will also be available to you:

- Synchronize data about different devices automatically
- Plan meetings
- Get personal meeting ID

For-fee functions

For commercial use, you can choose from among three subscription models:

- Core
- Crew
- Company

These differ in their functional scope and the number of possible participants in a Blizz meeting.

For additional information about the differences in the subscription models, please visit <https://blizz.com/en#license-overview>.

Price

The price depends on the package selected and the payment terms (annual/monthly).

For current prices, please visit: <https://blizz.com/en#license-overview>

Related topics

Your Blizz account